WHERE YOU CAN LEND A HAND

BLM relies heavily on volunteers to help accomplish important projects that are of value to all of us. Each year, nearly 2,400 volunteers contribute more than 170,000 hours valued at more than $1.9 million.

No matter what your background, age, or interest, there are opportunities for you to become a BLM volunteer. You can work individually or as part of a group. Projects can range from short-term one-day projects to season-long commitments.

Volunteer opportunities may include:

- Assisting biologists with research
- Performing office support tasks
- Maintaining interpretive sites
- Serving as campground hosts or trail guides
- Conducting inventories and identifying plants
- Maintaining wildlife habitats
- Revegetating wildlife and riparian areas
- Erecting signs and fences
- Constructing or maintaining facilities
- Assisting with habitat improvement projects
- Monitoring watershed studies
- Preserving and cataloguing artifacts

Find out how you can become a BLM volunteer. Contact the volunteer coordinator at any BLM office (see map on reverse side) or Volunteers for Outdoor Colorado.

Volunteers for Outdoor Colorado (VOC) is a volunteer organization working to improve our public lands. VOC serves as a volunteer opportunities clearinghouse for BLM and other Colorado federal, state, and local land management agencies. Since 1984, more than 24,000 volunteers have joined VOC's efforts to preserve and maintain Colorado's public lands.

VOC's activities also include building trails and stone walls, installing boardwalks, developing wildlife habitat, planting trees, reclaiming disturbed areas, and creating handicapped access to the wilderness.

Sweat equity pays off. For you. For those who enjoy Colorado's natural areas. For the environment. For the wild areas in Colorado that we cherish.
